

Look

April 26, 1938

Page 46

New Furniture

Of Glass, Steel and Celluloid

You Can See Through It. This desk is part of a set of glass furniture recently produced by an English firm for an Indian Maharajah who expects it to make his office look cool. Paper weights and trays are also glass.

Glass Chair. It is part of the office furniture for which an Indian Maharajah paid about $4,000. Glass strong enough for swimming pool springboards has been made in the United States.

This Transparent Piano top is celluloid in a steel frame. Legs are of chromium steel and the sides are covered with red upholstery. Paul Henningsen, a Danish modernistic architect, designed the new instrument.

OldMagazineArticles.com