

MILK

For the CHILDREN of Saxony and Thuringia

Certain districts of Saxony and Thuringia which even before the war counted among the poorest of otherwise prosperous Germany are suffering to an almost unbelievable degree from the privations which the war has brought upon them.

Statistical figures recently received from 100 towns and villages show 95 per cent undernourishment and 41 per cent tuberculosis.

Prof. Rudolf Eucken, the world-famous scientist, writes: "While most other foodstuffs can be bought in Germany, milk is not only prohibitive in price but practically unobtainable. . . . Money is still the most welcome gift with but one exception, MILK. . . . Your shipments of MILK have saved many a child."

We, therefore, appeal to the generosity of the Nation readers to send us their contributions toward our MILK FUND. You will enjoy the whipped cream on your Xmas cake much better if you know that your donation supplied a few German babies with milk.
