

Smallest Camera? The wife of a German inventor, Dr. R. Steineck, a photographic firm employe, complained that her camera was too large and presto! Steineck produced this miniature camera. Here a user is shown looking through the viewer and ready for a snapshot. About the size of a wrist watch, the camera carries a film of eight exposures. It is ready now for marketing in Germany, later may be exported.