

page 7

Here is one of the stories being told in Coblenz:

A young American lieutenant had been billeted with the same German family for four months. One day he gave his uniform to the German housewife to have it cleaned and pressed. Upon looking through the pockets she found the identification tag of a German soldier. After some questions she learned that the German had been killed by the young officer. The German was her son.

OldMagazineArticles.com