

IF SENATORS TALKED AT HOME AS THEY DO IN CONGRESS

"My dear, will you have another cup of coffee?"

"The question at issue is one of Americanism as against un-Americanism, and I, thank God, am one hundred per cent American!" etc.

"The matter may seem small to some, but to me it threatens the very foundations of this great and glorious nation," and so forth.

"I shall now take time to read a short article of fifty thousand words on the culture of the coffee bean, which may or may not have some bearing on the case." He reads.

"After that, who can deny that those who oppose me in this matter are selfish, corrupt, partisan, unpatriotic and pro-German?" etc.

"And so on the question of whether or not I shall have another cup of coffee, I must, in justice to myself, my country and my constituents, vote Aye!"
